Senate To Rush Through Fat Bundle Of Nominations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 — A batch of presidential nominations shelved by the GOP 80th Congress—including 830 postmasterships—will be dropped in the lap of the new Democratic Senate in January.

A Senate Democratic spokesman said today this will be the first business sent to Capitol Hill after the Senate organizes with the party of President Truman back in control.

Sen. Myers, (D) Pa., branded as "contemptible" the refusal of the Senate GOP leadership to push through at least the postmastership nominations of veterans in the last regular session.

The Republican stand in the regular session, and its refusal to act on any of the 10,213 nominations sent up in the special session, angered many Democrats.

But there is no doubt on Capitol Hill now about fast confirmation being given all the President's nominations. The Senate will be made up of 54 Democrats and 42 Republicans, a 12-vote margin of control.

THE LIST of those bypassed this year and given interim appointments by Mr. Truman includes half a dozen major board and commission members, four

U. S. district judges, seven U. S. attorneys and 12 U. S. marshals.

Most of the postmasters whose appointments failed to receive action this year received appointments by the postmaster general as "acting postmasters." Such temporary designations are good for six months, and may be renewed for another six months.

But the Senate's confirmation of only 523 postmasters out of a total list of 1,373 was a real sore spot with the minority Democrats.

They several times threatened to block all GOP legislative action until the postoffice committee headed by Sen. Lang, (R) N. D., reported out the postmasters.

None of the old nominations is still pending in the Senate. All automatically expire 30 days after Congress recesses or adjourns.

One of the hottest nomination fights in committee was that over the appointment of Thomas C. Buchanan of Pennsylvania as a member of the Federal Power Commission. The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee held it up and Mr. Truman gave Buchanan an interim appointment.

Myers said that Buchanan's appointment already has been vindicated. He said that the Pennsylvanian's vote on the FPC "prevented a $1,600,000 gas rate increase in Pittsburgh."

The plane apparently crashed into the ocean about 250 miles from Guam. It belonged to the 23rd Reconnaissance Squadron and was enroute from Okinawa to Myan.

An unidentified radio message said a fire had broken out aboard an aircraft and that the plane was going down.

In London, a spokesman for the British war office categorically denied charges of British troop movements in the Middle East.

He said that there are no British troops in Trans-Jordan, and that none have been sent back to Palestine since the evacuation of Palestine on May 15.

The Israeli foreign office sent two letters to Acting UN Mediator Dr. Ralph Bunche in Paris.

They asked a thorough investigation and warned that Israel would take "a most serious view of so bold an intervention by a foreign power."

AN ISRAELI spokesman also said that armaments of all kinds, including tanks, have been pouring into the Persian Gulf port of Basra for the use of Iraqi and possibly other Arab armies.

The Israeli government sent another letter calling attention to a recent speech by King Abdullah in which he was reported to have said that the Arab Legion now has an air force of its own.

It pointed out that inasmuch as the legion previously never possessed a single aircraft "it appears clear that Trans-Jordan must have acquired its air force during the truce."

Mobs Storm

LONDON, Nov. 9 — Reuters reported from Shanghai that hungry mobs stormed rice shops today to obtain food. Police in armored cars were said to have patrolled the streets in response to calls for aid from shopkeepers.

Authority on whether the Blue

Key man in Friday night's championship football game between the Circleville Tigers and the Washington C. H. Blue Lions may be a player who until a couple of weeks ago virtually was a nobody.

That player is Junior Pheifer, a newly-developed breakaway scatback who began to sparkle in the Circleville game against Greenfield.

Authority on whether the Blue

Lions have an eye on Pheifer comes from the head Lion coach, Fred Pierson, who personally scouted the Tigers in their games against Greenfield and Wilmington.

Said Pierson: I'm surprised Circleville has another darn good back besides Sandy Hill." He added:

"The kid needs only a good straightarm."

Circleville Coaches Steve

Brudzinski and Tom Bennett reportedly have spent many hours the last several days on that assignment alone.

Local observers are of the opinion Washington C. H. fans may have a surprise coming when Hill and Pheifer are twinned against the Blue Lions on the latter's gridiron Friday night.

But they will be no more surprised than were Circleville backers when they watched the two youths slash the tough Greenfield line to ribbons.

"Who is that kid, where'd he come from and where've they been hiding him? were a few of the queries forthcoming from the tilt."

Answer to those questions lies in Pheifer, himself, who had played the majority of early season on the Tiger bench.

New Labor Ruling Said In Offing

Taft-Hartley Act Seen Getting Pitch By New Demo Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—A top government official made it plain today that the administration will seek replacement of the Taft-Hartley Act with a sharply different new labor law.

Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin, who campaigned vigorously for President Truman's election, indicated that the administration will abandon these provisions of the existing law:

1. The ban on the closed shop.
2. The use of court injunctions that put the government into practically every labor dispute in the United States.
3. Union shop elections.

4. Non-Communist affidavits for union leaders unless employers also have to sign such affidavits."

5. The Taft-Hartley Act's union unfair labor practices "which are unfair and slanted against the American worker."

6. The separation of the federal mediation service from the Labor Department.

Figures Show Farmer Shares Few High Prices

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9—"If the farmer gave away the wool for a $50 suit, it would still cost him $44.30."

That's the burden of the cry from Ohio Farm Bureau Secretary John W. Sims, who claims farmers are not getting rich off high prices. He adds:

"If the farmer gave away the hide for a $10 pair of shoes, they would still cost $8.63."

He maintains that if the farmer gave away all his produce, $10 worth of meat would cost $4.90; a 20 cent pack of cigarettes would still cost 17 and three-fifths cents; a 10 cent can of beans would cost eight and seven-tenths cents; milk would cost 12 cents delivered, and a 16-cent loaf of bread would cost 14 and seven-tenths cents.

500 More Ducats Promised Locals

Those 650 tickets for Friday's Circleville-Washington C. H. football game lasted about 90 minutes Tuesday morning.

J. Wray Henry, local high school principal, said however, that Washington C. H. officials had promised that 500 more ducats for the championship battle would arrive here Wednesday.

These will sell for 75 cents each, are not reserved, may end up as standing room.

THE COURT expressed agreement with the opinion of Former U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull that the German-Italian Japanese anti-Comintern pact was not a defensive arrangement against Communism but "actually a preparatory move for the subsequent forceful expansion by the bandit nations."

The tribunal charged that the Japanese cabinet planned an offensive today against major government defense forces on the vital Suchow front shielding Nanking and Shanghai.

Official dispatches tonight disclosed that 300,000 Red soldiers have made general contact with the Nationalists in what is regarded as the decisive battle for control of the Shanghai-Nanking area and Central China.

Foreign military observers estimated that 300,000 Nationalist troops are grouped along the perimeter of defense positions anchored on Suchow, 165 miles northwest of Nanking, the national capital.

These forces are meeting the initial Communist thrusts probing the Suchow front for potential breakthrough spots in the presumed start of a big offensive aimed at China's heartland.

Sources at the Chinese ministry of communications in Nanking admitted that the Red troops already have cut a key supply railroad to the Nationalists.

High Tribunal Hearing Cases On Labor Laws

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Organized labor today makes its bid for a supreme court ruling invalidating state laws which ban closed shops and union shops.

Lawyers for the American Federation of Labor are scheduled to conclude the attack they began yesterday against anti-closed shop laws in Arizona, Nebraska and North Carolina. The court also will hear lawyers for the government of those states argue in support of the disputed laws.

Herbert S. Thatcher, AFL lawyer, told the high tribunal in opening the union attack that the laws violate constitutional guarantees.

He said all three laws prohibit employer-employee contracts which make union membership a requirement for all job holders.

Thatcher acknowledged that states have the right to regulate union activities, but asserted that the flat prohibitions of all union security was illegal.

Tiger backs to watch this season, Phiefer found the going tough early in the season when he began whizzing blindly into his own interference and playing hib in general with the Tiger offensive.

However, later in the season Coach Brudzinski gave the lad a few needed pointers.

Formerly Phiefer's initial burst of speed threw him into the enemy secondary before he, himself, knew where he was.

The coaches this week have one comment concerning Phiefer:

"He knows where he's going now."

With a good showing in the Friday fracas Phiefer, a junior, stands a good chance of joining Hill on the 1948 South Central Ohio League honor team.

Phiefer is found to fit in well with the new Tiger offensive, working equally well in both "T" and single-wing formations, providing the Tiger aggregation an added and needed burst of speed.

While not exceptional in pass reception, the speedy Phiefer has proved himself capable against passing attacks, having wrested the ball from enemy receivers four times this season.

A warrant was sworn out for Hill's arrest after Joseph Dietrich, of suburban Bratenahl, reported he had received a canceled check for $2,400 on which his signature had been forged.

Barrett was last seen at noon Oct. 9 when a friend drove him to downtown Cleveland.

Bebler charged that a secret plan was afoot to reorganize the UN special committee on the Balkans. He alleged that a change was contemplated in connection with military observer groups consisting chiefly of United States and British officers who would be responsible to their own governments rather than to the UN.

Bebler, however, was seemingly resigned to eventual passage of the entire resolution which extends the life of the Balkan group. He abandoned previous demands—~~for~~ time-consuming recalls as each paragraph was voted upon.

Top Problems Get Official Notice

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Administration officials began to move into high gear today in the settlement of outstanding problems held up pending the elections.

The presence of American ambassador to London Lewis W. Douglas in Washington provides an opportunity for conferences with Acting Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett on top problems.

Douglas is spending all his time at the state department pending his return to his post. But he has conferred at length with British Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks, who is handling much of the spade work in connection with talks on the North Atlantic alliance.

New customers usually figure it's the Guarantee itself which is most important...that it'd be nice to have someone else pay their garage starting service bill. ### THE WORLD AND HUNGER

IN THE world as a whole the battle against hunger is not being won; on the contrary it is being lost. That is the report of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, which said that population is increasing more rapidly than food production.

In addition to the physical problem of producing more food, there also is an economic problem of enabling hungry people to buy it. The report said that the incomes of hundreds of millions of consumers must be raised so that they will be able to buy the foods they need. It might be thought that one problem should be solved before the other, but they are interlocking.

It could be said that first enough food should be produced for everybody, and then the economic question can be tackled. It could also be said that if everybody had enough money to buy food, growers would find ways to meet the demand. It is not so simple as either idea. Besides more food production and more money in the hands of hungry people, better transportation and distribution are needed between the sources of food and the hungry people, and more general knowledge about diet. Soil improvement and farm machinery are important factors.

The United Nations group said a "job of economic engineering" is required, and that may sum it up.

THE NEXT ELECTION

REPORTS from the President's entourage, in the absence of direct comment, indicated that almost immediately after the election the idea of a third term had been presented to President Truman, and that he had exhibited no interest in it. His reported reaction was that there are other things to think about. This attitude might with profit be emulated by others in both parties.

If Mr. Truman should begin at once to plan for a third term, he would be unfaithful to the trust the people have given him. There is evidence that he knows this; that his first thought is to vindicate that trust.

We cannot be sure about all the central figures of the Democratic party, or of the Republican party. Some of them seem to progress only from election to election. Such persons see in the Democratic victory a chance to make hay, and in the Republican defeat a need to start now to prepare candidates and gather votes for the next election. Both parties have more important things to do.

These were the President's words: "I do not feel elated at the victory—I feel overwhelmed with the responsibility." They are words which every elected official and every appointee should echo. Those in the losing party, as well as the victors, have responsibilities.

It is a sickening spectacle to watch a human being crawl; yet so many have done that during the past week. The jesters on the radio who, since June, have been poking fun at Harry Truman now poke fun at George Gallup. Their obvious sarcasm at Truman were as ridiculous as their acceptance of Gallup.

I do not believe that I have read three polls in my life. I have never answered questionnaires. I have never paid any attention to so-called ratings. I have written columns against polls and ratings.

The point is that they have never proved anything and never can. The predictor always has to assume that the circumstances which justified his prediction at one moment will not change the next. A rainstorm spoiled Waterloo for Napoleon; an earthquake altered Japan's history; a mad monk switched Russia off the track.

Those who live by principle cannot be concerned with polls. Suppose everyone in the world disagrees; does that make a man wrong? If majority rule is the only guide to truth, what can one say of Jesus Christ?

Did the majority follow him? Did the majority believe that Galileo was right? Did the majority in England accept Edmund Burke's ideas concerning the American Revolution? Who was wrong—Burke or the majority?

Yet some men crawl before the crowd as though that inner voice which swells to bursting means nothing. Maybe they never heard that inner voice. Maybe they were for Dewey because the polls told them to be and because the betting was 15-1. Now they are sore at Dr. Gallup because he has shown up the paucity of their intelligences and the meanness of their consciences.

What a laugh Harry Truman must be having as he looks at the havoc of the past week and how bitter Tom Dewey must feel at the company he attracted and what a mangy band these ex-New Dealers and sure-things Democrats are. So now they dare to poke fun! There is nothing funny in believing in a cause no matter how unsuccessful. It is not funny but tragic when one does not believe in a cause. Success or failure is meaningless—truth is eternal and today's failure may mean eternal truth. Thomas Edison failed many times but he produced the electric light. The light's the thing!

Walter Winchell, who never seemed to care much for Truman or Dewey, finally spoke up for Dewey. After it was over, he said:

"I've been here in New York almost 10 months now. It's time I left my silly, idealistic youth behind and became cosmopolitan. I think I'll move uptown, say, up to the middle Fifties or so. The East Side, of course."

This last remark momentarily reminded me of the true classic of a year or so ago when a young playboy's wife sued him for divorce. Lothario telephoned his grimly social old man and explained his troubles—only to have the old boy roar over the phone: "Well, what the—were you doing on the West Side?"

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

One campaign promise has been fulfilled. The President promised lower prices and the stock market delivered them. But one splendid thing about our election...we are assured of a full 20 years of Democratic rule in contrast to countries where the same party stays in all the time.

I hear one country is bidding for a branch of the Republican Party if it promises to lose as consistently as it does.

But there is agreement on 1952. Mr. Truman and Mr. Dewey have agreed that they will

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

STURM was silent, his battered hands moved under hers. He said, "Perhaps she is dead, and then will love no one. I have wished her dead...I have not the strength to kill her...I cannot even destroy myself. If she were dead she would lie alone, loving no one, her heart would be quiet and her soul would escape and I too would be at peace." He looked down blindly and she saw at once, with a most dreadful wrench of terror, that he no longer saw her. He said, "Helena...come closer to me...come very close."

Aunt Elsa screamed. "Get up," she begged, "quickly, quickly..."

She ran to the door and opened it, crying for help, her English deserting her, and Gail, held in the nightmare bondage of fear, tried to move. But Sturm's shattered hands were clumsy fists, smashing at her, at her head, at her face, the twisted fingers trying to unclench. She heard his heavy breathing, the terrible sounds... She heard people running and somehow stumbled to her feet, seeing nothing...the hands could not hold her, they were without strength, but they could manipulate the chair. She took a step and another, and then fell, in the path of the wheels.

Gail lay quiet, her eyes closed. She thought, I have had a nightmare. Part of the nightmare was dream and part awakening. The dream was darkness and escape, the waking was a confusion of sounds, of running feet, of voices. She was conscious of arms lifting her, and that Brad was there. She had asked "Brad?" and he had answered. Then someone had spoken with authority, raising her a little... "Drink this...can you drink this?" but her teeth had chattered against the rim of the glass, something cool had spilled idly down her chin and breast... something hot and hurting had been squeezed from her eyes. Someone had wept aloud. Another or herself? Lights, and her eyelids lifting and faces crowded above her, balloons and wavering, out of all recognition. And then the same decisive voice, stating, "She will sleep now."

A bee stung her and she whimpered.

Now the nightmare receded. She was conscious of her body, aware that it ached, a little; and that it lay on softness.

She opened her eyes. There was very little light. The room in which she lay was small, and unfamiliar. It smelled of something she could not identify...sweet, dusty...and also of soap and of fresh air.

Someone moved silently about the room, and Gail could not turn her head, it seemed too great an effort, but she spoke and was astonished by the sound of her own voice.

"Brad?"

"He will be here presently. You must not talk."

She focused her eyes, concentrating. She saw Helena Sturm's

Monday Clubbers Hear Resume On Yank Composer

The Monday Club held its regular meeting in the trustee room of Memorial Hall.

Mrs. James Moffitt presided. During the business session, Mrs. John Eshelman gave a report on the annual Ohioana library meeting, which was held in Columbus.

In the program that followed, Mrs. E. W. Hedges read a paper on "Edward MacDowell and His Music." MacDowell was an American-born symphonic composer who has been mentioned for the Hall of Fame.

She pointed out that while MacDowell secured his entire musical education in Paris and Germany and accomplished some of his work there, his greatest desire was to return to his homeland and make a place for himself in American music.

Foremost of his works are Concerto Symphonic Poems and Indian Suite, first performed at the state convention held recently in Columbus by Mrs. James Hott.

Musical numbers for Monday evening's entertainment were selected from MacDowell's works. They include two selections by the Monday Club chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Wagar, "Midsummer Clouds" and "From the Sea." Mrs. Arthur Johnson chose "The Witches Dance" as her piano solo.

Two vocal solos were given by Mrs. Robert Wallace, "The Swan Bent Low To The Lilly" and one of four songs taken from Opus 66. Miss Rosemary Schreiner, Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Wagar sang two selections "The Beaming Eyes" and "To A Wild Rose."

Mrs. Ione Reichelderfer and Mrs. R. C. McAlister closed the program with a piano duet, "Polonaise." Mrs. McAlister and Mrs. Martin Cromley served as accompanists for the evening.

The meeting place was changed following illness in the Bowling home.

Legitimate Stage Drama To Be Given Here Nov. 26

One of the first legitimate adult stage productions to be given in Circleville for many years is scheduled for Nov. 26.

Officials of Circleville Child Study Club said the group would sponsor the Barter Theatre of Virginia in the high school auditorium at 8:15 p. m. on that date.

Barter Theatre is to present Robert Porterfield's celebrated repertory group in "The Hasty Heart," a comedy-drama by John Patrick.

Although several drama groups have been in Circleville presenting juvenile stories, there are few residents who can recall an adult drama here since the World War I era when the old Opera House turned to motion pictures.

Mrs. Russell Howard went to Columbus Sunday to be with her husband who is in University hospital. His room number is A-101.

Blaine Ater resigned as mayor Monday night at council meeting.

Miss Maretta Neff, Columbus, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Neff.

program, said the Virginia theatre company last year played to enthusiastic audiences of over 200,000 in 22 states.

The scheduled performance of "The Hasty Heart," which enjoyed popular and critical success during its Broadway run in 1945, has been termed one of the outstanding plays to come out of World War II.

FREDERIC Warriner will appear in the role of the doomed Scottish sergeant, Josephine Parker as the nurse Margaret, and Ray Boyle as the effusive Yank. Other members of the cast include Leo Chalzel who joined the Barter company this year after appearing last season on Broadway in Eugene O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh."

The Barter Players, an ensemble group of talented and experienced professional actors, reach Circleville on the second lap of an eight-months tour.

Child Study Club officials said the troupe had a one-day opening in its program enroute east to west and wanted to play one of the smaller cities to determine small town audience reaction compared to metropolitan reception.

Child Study Club, convinced smaller communities are as appreciative of fine drama as their city cousins, volunteered to sponsor the performance.

During the summer months the company performs at home in Abingdon, where this season it presented its 200th play since 1933.

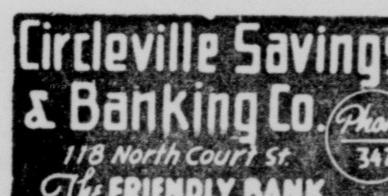

For outstanding work in the development of his unusual organization, Porterfield last Spring received honors including the American Theatre Wing's Antoinette Perry Award, equivalent to a Hollywood "Oscar."

Residents of Circleville may recall a Reader's Digest article earlier this year in which the colorful story was told of Barter's beginning 16 years ago, when farm products were accepted in payment for tickets to the Navy during the war.

The company started pilot production of the five-room houses a month ago and hopes to reach peak output of 150 homes a day next month.

Truman Readies Top Leaders For Conference

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 9—President Truman made ready today to confer with top Democratic leaders while vacationing in Florida.

Vice-President-elect Alben W. Barkley is expected to join the chief executive in a day or two. The Kentuckian will be accompanied by Leslie Biffle, who is slated to be reelected secretary of the senate when the new Democratic-dominated Congress convenes in Washington.

Sen. J. Howard McGrath, chairman of the Democratic national committee, also is expected to meet with the presidential party this week.

The president relaxed in the Florida sunshine yesterday, slept late and loafed on the beach.

The chief executive, in the course of a walk, dropped in at the press headquarters at the United States Naval submarine base. Leaning over the shoulder of a news photographer, who was shooting pool, he said: "Who's behind the eight ball?"

CANTON, Nov. 9—Canton city officials mapped plans today to eliminate a downtown smog as city residents continued to choke under the atmospheric hazard.

Seeking to avoid a repetition of the recent Donora, Pa., disaster, city council last night approved a resolution calling for new legislation to replace the old Canton smoke ordinance.

A special meeting was called for between council members and other city officials to discuss the problem.

Pickaway County rural schools plan observances throughout this week, set aside as "National Education Week".

Circleville schools, however, have little planned for the week, according to local educators.

Prime portion of the program, venereal disease education, will be touched in the county school system. City school officials Monday indicated they would ignore the subject.

Fertilizers Last More Than Year

Agent Points Out 'Hangover Assets'

Farmers who think fertilizer costs should be charged off in one year are overlooking "hangover assets" that pay long-term dividends in bigger crop yields, according to Larry A. Best, Pickaway County agricultural agent.

A good seed of fertilizer gives the soil a backlog of plant nutrients that benefits succeeding crops, he points out.

Well-fertilized legume-grass crops in any good soil building program leave behind them important carry-over values. Legume-grass mixtures fed with plenty of phosphate and potash will add to the soil's organic matter and build soil structure.

They will improve tilth, drainage and ventilation. They will make a loose, grainy soil in which roots find it easy to reach out for plant nutrients and water.

Because of these carry-over benefits, agronomists recommend a minimum of three years for charging off the cost of heavy fertilizer applications.

Two University of Illinois research men, A. L. Lang, chief in soil experiment fields and J. B. Cunningham, farm management specialist, have developed such a farm bookkeeping plan.

For accounting purposes, the research men define "heavy applications" as:

1—More than 100 pounds per acre of total plant food (nitrogen, phosphate and potash) in a mixed fertilizer such as 2-12-6; 8-8-8; and 0-20-20.

2—More than 100 pounds of phosphoric acid in superphosphates.

3—More than 100 pounds of potash in potash fertilizer materials.

4—Any amount of nitrogen fertilizer.

Shippers Settle Wage Dispute

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The AFL Longshoremen's Association and shippers agreed to terms of a new contract early today and averted a strike that would have crippled Atlantic and Gulf coast shipping.

Terms of the contract call for a 20-cent hourly wage increase, retroactive pay to last Sept. 15, two weeks paid vacation after 1,250 working hours and a guarantee of four working hours daily.

The announcement of settlement came from Thomas R. Steutel, U. S. conciliation commissioner, after a six-hour night conference.

Death To End Litigation Over 'Unsound' Horse

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 9.—There won't be any hearing in Louisville police court today to determine whether Andrew Guttman, a 42-year-old Cleveland, should be refunded the money he paid for Big Boss, an allegedly worthless race horse.

Guttman told the court last week that he gave his last dime as part of a $650 price demanded by an 80-year-old trainer, William Brazelton, for the horse—and then found that the horse was so lame he had to be helped off the track after a workout.

But there will be no hearing today. Guttman died Sunday of a heart attack.

The Cleveland man has been disabled since a wartime ailment brought on the heart trouble. Stricken Sunday while on a Louisville bus, he was rushed to a hospital in a police ambulance. He was dead on arrival.

Guttman's attorney, Allen Schnitt, said the horse, Big Boss, is quartered in a Douglas Park barn and would remain there until the owner's relatives of Cleveland call for him.

The attorney claimed the horse is "8 or 9 years old" but racing records list Big Boss at 7.

They had charged Brazelton with obtaining money under false pretenses in allegedly selling Big Boss as a sound horse.

Lane Urges U.S. Strong Military

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—Arthur Bliss Lane, retired career diplomat told a Columbus audience last night our foreign policy should be "backed by strength: military, naval, air and atomic."

The former ambassador to Poland said this policy should include continuation of the Marshall Plan, support of the Western Defense pact and, if possible, formation of a Federal Union of Western Democracies, within the framework of the United Nations.

Lane, author of the book "I Saw Poland Betrayed," said: "We must serve a warning to the Kremlin that the United States people, regardless of Communist propaganda, is united in repudiating a policy of appeasement."

Commie Spy Probe And Condon Case Headed For Scrap

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The House Un-American Activities Committee may fold up for the remainder of the year as a result of the indictment of its chairman and the defeat of two members at the polls.

A committee source expressed doubt today that the committee will engage in further activities of any importance until it comes under Democratic control again Jan. 3.

It is expected that resumption of the Hollywood investigation and the spy probe will be delayed indefinitely, perhaps for good. They were tentatively slated to resume this month and the next.

Plans of some members to give Dr. Edward U. Condon a hearing probably will be dropped also. The two men who were most insistent that he be given a chance to testify were defeated for re-election. They were Reps. McDowell (R) Pa. and Vail (R) Ill.

Other projected investigations apparently headed for the scrap heap as a result of the Republican reversal included inquiries into Communist infiltration of Negro groups and illegal crossings of the Canadian and Mexican borders by subversives.

Uranium Supply Claimed Skimpy

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—A leading research scientist declared today that uranium supplies in the United States will be exhausted by 1978 if the current rate of production continues.

Dr. Eugene Ayres, chief chemist of the Gulf Research and Development Co. of Pittsburgh, warned:

"Atomic disintegration has sometimes been regarded as a source of practically inexhaustible energy. This is not true."

The researcher estimated that the world supply of one of the basic fissionable materials of atomic energy amounted only 10 times that of the American reserve.

Marines Ready For Drive In War Games

ARGENTIA, Nfld., Nov. 9.—U. S. Marines will expand their theoretical beachheads to day during the second day of maneuvers here.

Maneuver observers reported that several weaknesses had been uncovered in yesterday's "war games."

Eight submarines equipped with "schnorkel" tubes created havoc among U. S. naval forces landing operations. But Navy officers said that a top secret defense against the schnorked U-boats is in preparation.

The schnorkel device enables submarines to remain submerged for extended periods of time.

The amphibious landings were made in another phase of the North Atlantic naval maneuvers, the largest ever held by the United States.

Underwater demolition teams blew up theoretical obstacles in the way of the landing craft ferrying load after load of battle-dressed Marines from ship to shore in the maneuvers which involve 36,000 men and 500 airplanes.

Free Sub Rule Given Thumping

Grid Fans Said Losing Interest

NEW YORK, Nov 9—The free substitution rule in football has caused more confusion than any regulation ever written into the book and has wrecked the basic idea behind the game. So many observers believe today.

It is virtually impossible now to keep track of the shifts in players, and the great individual all-around stars gradually are disappearing from the scene.

Army was booted constantly Saturday against Stanford when hordes of players were run in and out of the one-sided game, but nobody is paying any attention to the spectators who regard football as a game between two teams, instead of a half dozen.

The day of the strong man on the gridiron is over. As the game is played now, you are tabbed by the coach as a defensive player—one to be used on the offensive and the result is a grand mess of nonsense.

And there is no end in sight. Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association, thinks the rule is here to stay.

BUSHNELL reflects the opinion of the college coaches, and those who find the present rules onerous may as well be prepared to accept them indefinitely.

Bushnell pointed out at the meeting of the football writers that the present rule was adopted at the suggestion of the coaches.

His idea is that returning to the restriction of substitutions would be a step in reverse for football. The present system shows progress. That's what Bushnell says.

Nevertheless there are two big arguments against football as it currently is being played.

The game is less interesting now and the school with a small squad is at a tremendous disadvantage.

It just doesn't seem to make sense for a coach to send in an entire team to substitute when the ball changes hands.

It stands to reason that the school with two or three or more full teams must out-man the school with one good first team and a lack of reserves.

Under this rule the big football factories, such as Army, should go unbeaten forever.

The time will probably come when there will be two sets of coaches to handle the separate squads and finally schools will find themselves with a rivalry over which of its two teams is better—the defensive one or the offensive one.

Canton Holding Tight To First In Grid Ratings

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9—Canton McKinley, victors over undefeated Lakewood, continued today to dominate the "top ten" high school eleves as picked for International News Service by Ohio sports writers.

Toledo Waite, because of its loss to Massillon, dropped all the way from fourth to tenth. Lakewood, because of its good showing against McKinley, wound up in sixth place, and Massillon moved up to fourth.

The "top ten" with records:

1. Canton McKinley (8-0).
2. Hamilton (8-0).
3. Middletown (8-0-1).
4. Massillon (7-1).
5. Martins Ferry (7-0-1).
6. Lakewood (7-1).
7. Newark (7-0-1).
8. Gallipolis (8-0).
9. Alliance (7-1).
10. (tie) Toledo Waite (7-1).
- and New Philadelphia (7-1).

Gallery Mark Is Expected

CLEVELAND, Nov. 9—Another football attendance record is likely to topple when the Cleveland Browns and San Francisco 49ers collide here Sunday.

According to advance sale, the crowd probably will better the Cleveland record of 80,057 chalked up last year against New York and may even beat the professional mark set in Los Angeles in a game between the Dons and the New Yorkers.

Cleveland has been established as a seven-point favorite over the 1948 All-America Conference champion.

So far this year San Francisco is unbeaten in 10 starts while Cleveland has taken nine in a row.

Bucks Ready Sharp Offense For Illinois

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9—Ohio State fans were cheered today by the news that Fullback Joe Whisler was expected to be back in shape for Saturday's game against Illinois.

However, that bright ray of light was partially obscured by a cloud. There still was no word on whether Quarterback Pete Perini and End Charlie Gilbert would be ready for the fray.

The Bucks worked out briefly in sweat clothes yesterday and were expected to devote a good bit of time for the rest of the week to sharpening their offense.

The tip on that came from Scout Dick Fisher, who told the Columbus Press Club:

"Illinois is a great defensive ball club."

Fisher explained that the Illinois defense was built on a very rugged quartet: Linebackers Bill Vohaska and Al Mastrangeli, and Tacklers Lyle Button and Al Tate.

Button was injured last week in the 14-0 Illinois triumph over Iowa, as was the defensive right end, Jim Valek. However, word from Champaign, Ill., has it that Button and Valek will be in the lineup Saturday.

Louis-Bivins Card Complete

CLEVELAND, Nov. 9—The card was complete today for the Cleveland boxing program a week from tonight featuring a six-round exhibition between Joe Louis and Jimmy Bivins.

Two four-rounders and a six-frame tussle have been scheduled underneath the Chuck Hunter-Nick Barone feature preliminary.

Sammy Mastean, undefeated Pittsburgh welterweight, meets Harry Marshall of Detroit in the six-round clash.

The four-rounders pair Ricky Ronci, Youngstown heavyweight, against Paul Simpson of Cleveland; and Al Gronik, Detroit welterweight, versus George Kolarik, also of Cleveland.

McKinley Kirk Sets Annual Sale For Nov. 22

McKinley Kirk, who winters his harness race horse stable at Pickaway Fairgrounds, has scheduled his second annual Fall vendue for Nov. 22.

The public auction of Kirk's offerings will be held on Kirk's farm near New Holland.

George Swinebroad, well-known Lexington, Ky., harness horse expert, has been retained as auctioneer.

Although several fine racers will go on the block, most spirited bidding is expected when Hodgen is led before the gallery.

Hodgen, whose record is 2.03 1-5, is one of the most outstanding pacers of 1948. He came away with some of the better purses offered along the Grand Circuit.

Last season, Hodgen was a trotter and was a good winner at that gait. But this year, Kirk threw the hopples on Hodgen and sent him away in the pace. Hodgen was even better.

THE SON of Schuyler, a stud, probably will be eyed by prospective buyers both as a winning pacer and as a future sire. He now stands eligible to the 15 Class Pace, meaning he is a non-winner of a total of $8,000... all during the 1948 season.

Kirk also will offer a string of yearlings at the Nov. 22 sale. Last year, top price of $9,000 was paid by Miss Mary Lou O'Connor, young Long Island enthusiast, for Long Island Belle.

Several successful colts, including Valdo Abbe, which Kirk has bred and raced, will form the magnet which will draw standardbred fanciers to his venue.

He claims his fishing area is one of the last remaining virgin areas—a mecca for fishermen where 15-pound lake trout are caught in swift river waters and 30-pound muskies are "small."

His talk was received well by his listeners although few of them would be able to finance such a trip. Fees for the lodge are $10 per day per person with a $50 per person airplane fee from Sudbury to the camp site.

Presentation of the story of Mississagi Lodge was made by one of the owners, C. Richard Harbold of Columbus. His motion pictures showed both hunting and fishing expeditions.

PHILADELPHIA Nov. 9—Buddy Garcia is clamoring for a rematch today with Lightweight Champion Ike Williams.

For two minutes and 59 seconds in the initial stanza of their scheduled over-the-weight 10-rounder last night, the two fought a give-and-take battle in Philadelphia Arena. Then Williams lashed out with a left hook and followed with a right upper cut which sunk into Garcia's solar plexus as the bell sounded.

Garcia turned for his corner, gasped, and fell on his face, and his seconds wouldn't let him come out for the second round.

Garcia Floored In 1st Round

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 9—A post-season charity game between Army and California appeared unlikely today.

A spokesman for Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said last night that Army had received an "informal" invitation but the academy superintendent refused to consider a post-season game.

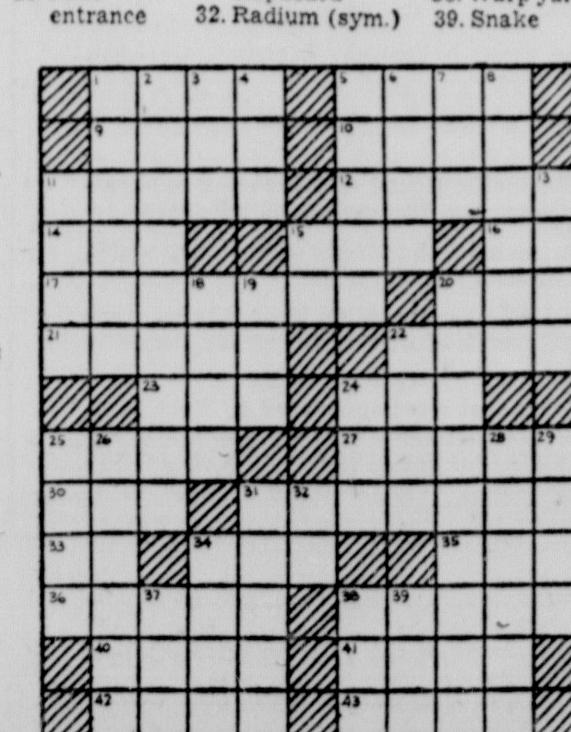

West coast sports circles doubted the likelihood of a Cadet-Bear encounter because Pacific Conference rules permit only one post season game—the Rose Bowl tussle.

Young formerly played with the New York Giants, the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals. He hit .241 last season.

McKINLEY KIRK SETS ANNUAL SALE FOR NOV. 22

McKinley Kirk, who winters his harness race horse stable at Pickaway Fairgrounds, has scheduled his second annual Fall vendue for Nov. 22.

The public auction of Kirk's offerings will be held on Kirk's farm near New Holland.

George Swinebroad, well-known Lexington, Ky., harness horse expert, has been retained as auctioneer.

Although several fine racers will go on the block, most spirited bidding is expected when Hodgen is led before the gallery.

Hodgen, whose record is 2.03 1-5, is one of the most outstanding pacers of 1948. He came away with some of the better purses offered along the Grand Circuit.

Last season, Hodgen was a trotter and was a good winner at that gait. But this year, Kirk threw the hopples on Hodgen and sent him away in the pace. Hodgen was even better.

THE SON of Schuyler, a stud, probably will be eyed by prospective buyers both as a winning pacer and as a future sire. He now stands eligible to the 15 Class Pace, meaning he is a non-winner of a total of $8,000... all during the 1948 season.

Kirk also will offer a string of yearlings at the Nov. 22 sale. Last year, top price of $9,000 was paid by Miss Mary Lou O'Connor, young Long Island enthusiast, for Long Island Belle.

Several successful colts, including Valdo Abbe, which Kirk has bred and raced, will form the magnet which will draw standardbred fanciers to his venue.

He claims his fishing area is one of the last remaining virgin areas—a mecca for fishermen where 15-pound lake trout are caught in swift river waters and 30-pound muskies are "small."

His talk was received well by his listeners although few of them would be able to finance such a trip. Fees for the lodge are $10 per day per person with a $50 per person airplane fee from Sudbury to the camp site.

PHILADELPHIA Nov. 9—Buddy Garcia is clamoring for a rematch today with Lightweight Champion Ike Williams.

For two minutes and 59 seconds in the initial stanza of their scheduled over-the-weight 10-rounder last night, the two fought a give-and-take battle in Philadelphia Arena. Then Williams lashed out with a left hook and followed with a right upper cut which sunk into Garcia's solar plexus as the bell sounded.

Garcia turned for his corner, gasped, and fell on his face, and his seconds wouldn't let him come out for the second round.

Joe Rooney Says City Hall Needs Repair, Face Lifted

Circleville's near 90-year-old City Hall will be recommended for a beauty treatment by Service Director Joe Rooney who declared Tuesday the "old gal needs her face lifted."

Rooney said he probably would submit to city council a list of urgently needed improvements as soon as he completes a survey of the structure.

Rooney pointed out a few improvements that need the immediate attention of council.

To list a few, Rooney said, repair work on the fire alarm bell and belfry disclosed many leaks in the original slate roof of the structure.

Mortar between the bricks on the surface of City Hall needs strengthening. The building shows signs of sagging, the service director said.

OTHER improvements are needed in roof gutters, window sills, the front door portico, floors, interior walls need paint-

Jenkins Rules On Fee Handout

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9—Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins ruled today that fines resulting from state charges prosecuted in a mayor's court of municipal court, and paid to a law library association, are limited to the maximum set by law for library associations and excesses must be paid to the county treasurer.

In an opinion to the bureau of inspection, Jenkins pointed out that the municipal officer collecting such fines is acting as a state agent and therefore the funds are not municipal funds and cannot be refunded to the city.

THE THREATENED resignation of the Greek government under Premier Themistokles Sophoulis (above) has been temporarily postponed, possibly through intervention by King Paul, according to reports. The crisis was brought on by a demand from Sophocles Venizelos, deputy leader of the Liberal party, for Cabinet change. (International)

SOME OF THE MANY ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE CIRCLEVILLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Have always encouraged, assisted and induced new industry to locate in Circleville.

Have always assisted the City and County Officials in any and all of their projects for the benefit of the city and community; recently assisted the city in the purchase of the Water Company; the building of the Sewage Disposal plant; the installation of the boulevard lights; this light project was originally promoted by the Chamber.

Originated the idea and purchased the TED LEWIS PARK. Supported the Agricultural Society in their purchase of the Fairgrounds in order to erect the Coliseum for which the Chamber had been working for many years. The idea of the Coliseum for a community center for basketball and general meeting purposes originated in the Chamber.

Originated, sponsored and carried out the improvement of the Flood-control Highway on Route 22, just west of Circleville, thereby benefiting thousands of local citizens and maintaining business as usual during frequent floods.

Promoted and sponsored the Annual Halloween Parades and Contests.

Sponsored and set up the Christmas street decorations that were so outstanding that they received statewide mention in the newspapers.

Promoted, sponsored and financed the great Northwest Territory Caravan Parade and celebration in May 1938.

Purchased and developed the Southend Veterans Lot Addition to the city of Circleville.

Recently supported and assisted the Circleville Board of Education in securing their large Bond Issue for building and improvement purposes.

Financed and sponsored the project in securing hundreds of workers which made the building of the new GE Plant a reality.

Secured the Fairgrounds for Winter quarters for the Mills Bros. Circus, thus creating many thousands of dollars worth of new business for the merchants.

There are many more worthwhile projects that were sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, too numerous to mention; however we can truthfully say that most every worthwhile project that has been done for the benefit of the community has almost invariably originated within the Chamber of Commerce or has been done by its membership.

Free Sub Rule Given Thumping

Grid Fans Said Losing Interest

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The free substitution rule in football has caused more confusion than any regulation ever written into the book and has wrecked the basic idea behind the game. So many observers believe today.

It is virtually impossible now to keep track of the shifts in players, and the great individual all-around stars gradually are disappearing from the scene.

Army was booed constantly Saturday against Stanford when hordes of players were run in and out of the one-sided game, but nobody is paying any attention to the spectators who regard football as a game between two teams, instead of a half dozen.

The day of the strong man on the gridiron is over. As the game is played now, you are tabbed by the coach as a defensive player—one to be used on the offensive and the result is a grand mess of nonsense.

And there is no end in sight. Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association, thinks the rule is here to stay.

BUSHNELL reflects the opinion of the college coaches, and those who find the present rules onerous may as well be prepared to accept them indefinitely.

Bushnell pointed out at the meeting of the football writers that the present rule was adopted at the suggestion of the coaches.

His idea is that returning to the restriction of substitutions would be a step in reverse for football. The present system shows progress. That's what Bushnell says.

Nevertheless there are two big arguments against football as it currently is being played.

The game is less interesting now and the school with a small squad is at a tremendous disadvantage.

It just doesn't seem to make sense for a coach to send in an entire team to substitute when the ball changes hands.

It stands to reason that the school with two or three or more full teams must out-man the school with one good first team and a lack of reserves.

Under this rule the big football factories, such as Army, should go unbeaten forever.

The time will probably come when there will be two sets of coaches to handle the separate squads and finally schools will find themselves with a rivalry over which of its two teams is better—the defensive one or the offensive one.

Canton Holding Tight To First In Grid Ratings

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—Canton McKinley, victors over undefeated Lakewood, continued today to dominate the "top ten" high school eleves as picked for International News Service by Ohio sports writers.

Toledo Waite, because of its loss to Massillon, dropped all the way from fourth to tenth. Lakewood, because of its good showing against McKinley, wound up in sixth place, and Massillon moved up to fourth.

The "top ten" with records:

1. Canton McKinley (8-0).
2. Hamilton (8-0).
3. Middletown (8-0-1).
4. Massillon (7-1).
5. Martins Ferry (7-0-1).
6. Lakewood (7-1).
7. Newark (7-0-1).
8. Gallipolis (8-0).
9. Alliance (7-1).
10. (tie) Toledo Waite (7-1) and New Philadelphia (7-1).

Gallery Mark Is Expected

CLEVELAND, Nov. 9.—Another football attendance record is likely to topple when the Cleveland Browns and San Francisco 49ers collide here Sunday.

According to advance sale, the crowd probably will better the Cleveland record of 80,007 chalked up last year against New York and may even beat the professional mark set in Los Angeles in a game between the Dons and the New Yorkers.

Cleveland has been established as a seven-point favorite over the 1948 All-America Conference champion.

So far this year San Francisco is unbeaten in 10 starts while Cleveland has taken nine in a row.

Bucks Ready Sharp Offense For Illinois

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—Ohio State fans were cheered today by the news that Fullback Joe Whisler was expected to be back in shape for Saturday's game against Illinois.

He claims his fishing area is one of the last remaining virgin areas—a mecca for fishermen where 15-pound lake trout are caught in swift river waters and 20-pound muskies are "small."

His talk was received well by his listeners although few of them would be able to finance such a trip. Fees for the lodge are $10 per day per person with a $50 per person airplane fee from Sudbury to the lodge.

Garcia Floored In 1st Round

PHILADELPHIA Nov. 9.—Buddy Garcia is clamoring for a rematch today with Lightweight Champion Ike Williams.

For two minutes and 59 seconds in the initial stanza of their scheduled over-the-weight 10-rounders last night, the two fought a give-and-take battle in Philadelphia Arena. Then Williams lashed out with a left hook and followed with a right uppercut which sunk into Garcia's solar plexus as the bell sounded.

Garcia turned for his corner, gasped, and fell on his face, and his seconds wouldn't let him come out for the second round.

Yankees Sign Babe Young

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Babe Young, onetime Fordham university star, is a member of a New York ball club again today.

The slugging first baseman signed a one-year contract yesterday with the New York Yankees.

Young formerly played with the New York Giants, the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals. He hit .241 last season.

McKinley Kirk Sets Annual Sale For Nov. 22

McKinley Kirk, who winters his harness race horse stable at Pickaway Fair grounds, has scheduled his second annual Fall sale for Nov. 22.

The public auction of Kirk's offerings will be held on Kirk's farm near New Holland.

George Swinebroad, well-known Lexington, Ky., harness horse expert, has been retained as auctioneer.

Although several fine racers will go on the block, most spirited bidding is expected when Hodgen is led before the gallery.

Hodgen, whose record is 2:03 1-5, is one of the most outstanding pacers of 1948. He came away with some of the better purses offered along the Grand Circuit.

Last season, Hodgen was a trotter and was a good winner at that gait. But this year, Kirk threw the hopples on Hodgen and sent him away in the pace. Hodgen was even better.

THE SON of Schuyler, a stud, probably will be eyed by prospective buyers both as a winning pacer and as a future sire. He now stands eligible to the 15 Class Pace, meaning he is a non-winner of a total of $8,000... all during the 1948 season.

Kirk also will offer a string of yearlings at the Nov. 22 sale. Last year, top price of $9,000 was paid by Miss Mary Lou O'Connor, young Long Island enthusiast, for Long Island Belle.

Several successful colts, including Valdo Abbe, which Kirk has bred and raced, will form the magnet which will draw standardbred fanciers to his venue.

New President Due For AA Baseball Loop

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—Frank C. Lane, due to resign as American Association president sometime this month to assume new duties as general manager of the Chicago White Sox, announced a change in the league's presidential nominating committee today.

Lane appointed A. L. Banister, president of the Columbus club, as chairman to succeed Bruce Dudley, president of the Louisville club.

It was assumed the removal of Hodgen was because he is seeking the presidency being vacated by Lane.

The committee is now composed of Banister, Lee MacPhail of the Kansas City club and Paul Sullivan of the Indianapolis club.

The Association's directors will convene at the Netherland Plaza hotel in Cincinnati today and Lane said that "in all probability a new league president will evolve from this meeting."

Army-California Game Unlikely

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 9.—A post-season charity game between Army and California appeared unlikely today.

A spokesman for Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said last night that Army had received an "informal" invitation but the academic superintendent refused to consider a post-season game.

West coast sports circles doubted the likelihood of a Cadet-Bear encounter because Pacific Conference rules permit only one post season game—the Rose Bowl tussle.

Young formerly played with the New York Giants, the Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals. He hit .241 last season.

Joe Rooney Says City Hall Needs Repair, Face Lifted

Circleville's near 90-year-old City Hall will be recommended for a beauty treatment by Service Director Joe Rooney who declared Tuesday the "old gal needs her face lifted."

Rooney said he probably would submit to city council a list of urgently needed improvements as soon as he completes a survey of the structure.

Rooney pointed out a few improvements that need the immediate attention of council.

To list a few, Rooney said, repair work on the fire alarm bell and belfry disclosed many leaks in the original slate roof of the structure.

Mortar between the bricks on the surface of City Hall needs strengthening. The building shows signs of sagging, the service director said.

OTHER improvements are needed in roof gutters, window sills, the front door portico, floors, interior walls need painting and stairways. Rooney principal building was built, he had in mind an event that occurred above Court street the year City Hall was completed.

According to the ex-county official, it was 1859. That year the famous French tight-rope walker, Monsieur Blondin performed his act on a rope stretched from the courthouse to the Crystal Palace, now Cussins and Fearn store location.

Sweetman said M. Blondin gained world recognition in this country a short time before by being the first man to walk a tight-rope across Niagara Falls.

Feeding World 'Forever' Hit

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 — Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer asserted today that the time has arrived when the United States must make it plain that "we have not undertaken to feed the world forever."

Sawyer, a Cincinnatian, made the statement in a speech before the 35th National Foreign Trade Convention.

The Commerce secretary said that "tremendous" U. S. shipments during recent years have stemmed largely "from the desire of America to feed a starving world."

Jenkins Rules On Fee Handout

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9—Attorney General Hugh S. Jenkins ruled today that fines resulting from state charges prosecuted in a mayor's court of municipal court, and paid to a law library association, are limited to the maximums set by law for library associations and excesses must be paid to the county treasury.

In an opinion to the bureau of inspection, Jenkins pointed out that the municipal officer collecting such fines is acting as a state agent and therefore the funds are not municipal funds and cannot be refunded to the city.
